YES; DR. GARDNER RESTORED MY HEARING.

Mr. William Mack, who lives at 12 Noil st., Brooklyn, N. Y., has been deaf for seven years. He has had his hearing thoroughly restored by Dr. Gardner's treatment. Mr. W. Mack's statement is as follows:

Over seven years ago I began to gradually lose my hearing. I had head noises. The first thing I could hear in the morning would be the roaring and burging in my sers. I never was totally deaf; I could always hear If people spoke to me loudly. Every treatment which I have taken, instead of benefiting me, seemed to make me worse. Three months ago I read an advertisement in the paper about Dr. Gardner curing deafnees. I went to him and received treatment which was painless and which seemed to help me from the start. I have been under treatment three months, my head noises are gone, my hearing is as perfect as ever, and I can hear a watch tick, the clock strike and everything that 's said to me.

tween the employers and workmen in the building trades was made last night when two new unions of trades in the building line were formed. These were unions of plumbers and plasterers.

Both unions have signed the arbitration agreement and will put men to work on jobs from which members of the Building Trades Alliance unless have been locked out or on which they have the United Association of Plumbers, the national union which controls unions in all the big cities of the country except New York. When Philip Weinselmer secured control of the plumbers' union here he broke away from the national organization on the ground that the national officers wanted too large & share of the receipts of the Manhattan Union. The national officers have been fighting him ever since.

Bringing Union Men Here. The project is to bring union men here from all over the country and put them on jobs from which the Weinseimer plumbers have departed. The men brought here are all to be allowed to join the new union upon presentation of their union cards. While the new union was being formed a committee from the Weinselmer union was trying to make arrangements for a re-alliance with the national organization. The new plasterers' union is made up of the non-union plasterers who helped to build Dreamland in Coney Island. Many of them are already at work on jobs controlled by the Building Trades Employers' Association.

Hope to Break Strike.

There are three unions now working under sanction of the employers the electricians, plasterers and plumbers Other unions are in process of formation. The employers expect by this method of forming their own unions to break the present strike and enforce their lockout as they did in the great struggle against Sam Parks.

The efforts of William Nason, the new president of the Building Trades Alliance, to bring about a peaceful settlement of the strike have been folled by the Weinselmer influence. Mr. Nason's plan to bring about a conference was voted down at a meeting held

"I do not despair of an urtimate settlement," said Mr. Nason. "The malong as the men want to stick out we will all hang together."
